Excellent Teachers

Many men will testify that wives are excellent teachers. Especially are wives well known for teaching men how to keep house. Their way works almost every time!

1) Get married to a successful man who wants to build a wonderful home.
2) Build your beautiful dream house and have your husband work hard to get it paid for as soon as possible.
3) Then, as is so sadly the case in many instances, the couple go before the judge and fight during their divorce case.
4) The unfortunate husband just learned that his wife taught him how to keep house (his toys, tools, and almost everything else that they once had in common).
