We all had some fear that this might happen someday. Regrettably it has. First time I've seen factual evidence of a Seal Team going Rogue! Now it's beginning to get a little scary.

Subject: Rogue SEAL TEAM Takes Over US Navy Ballistic Missile Submarine; Hope they are the good guys!!!

Bangor Washington: A team of SEALs recently took over USS 'NEVADA'
(SSBN 733) a TRIDENT missile submarine, while she was tied up to the pier at the Trident Submarine Basin in Bangor, Washington.
THIS WAS NOT A PLANNED TRAINING EXERCISE

According to Navy officials, the takeover didn't last long. The SEALs were quickly driven off the ship by members of the ship's crew. A picture of the team was taken as they made their escape back into the water, leaving from the ship's bow. None could actually be identified, as they were in their SEAL-issued wet suits and underwater gear.